Mike,

At the July 31 meeting you attended with Minority Leader Pelosi, the Vice Chair of the Mayor's Hunters Point Citizens Advisory Committee (CAC) asked agencies to give updates at their monthly Environmental and Reuse Subcommittee meetings. At the August 27 meeting, the Navy presented its plan for radiological retesting on Parcel G. Nearly 20 community members attended, representing Parcel A residents, current and former city commissions, environmental non-governmental organizations, and local businesses. Many asked the Navy to engage residents in more meaningful two-way dialogue that includes more technical details to restore trust, which has been seriously compromised. Many also questioned the adequacy of the Navy's Parcel G retesting Work Plan. They asked for greater density of sampling locations, more excavation, and rework as comprehensive as the previous Tetra Tech EC Inc. workplans. These remarks echo the written recommendations EPA and the state gave in March 2018 for the scenario in which contamination is found in Phase 1 testing. These EPA representatives attended: Christopher Hage (Senior Advisor to the Regional Administrator), Lily Lee (Remedial Project Manager), and Jackie Lane (Community Involvement Coordinator).

As next steps, the EPA has committed to participate in the following:

- Attend any monthly CAC meeting with the Shipyard cleanup on the agenda or when EPA is requested to participate.
- Angeles continues weekly meetings with San Francisco city senior managers.
- During the week of September 3rd, meeting at the request of CAC Chair Dr. Veronica Hunnicutt.
- On September 6, California Department of Public Health (CDPH) update to the Parcel A Home Owners Association about scanning.
- On September 8, Navy bus tours of the Shipyard and cleanup work.
- In late September (tentative), Malia Cohen, President of the Board of Supervisors, proposed a hearing about the Shipyard cleanup.
- On September 24 (tentative), CDPH presentation on Parcel A scanning at the CAC Environmental and Reuse Subcommittee monthly meeting
- On October 3, Navy public workshop to give a radiation update.

Please let us know any more information you may need.

- Enrique
